Mobile Phones Analysis from Flipkart

The waterfall chart illustrates the contribution of each brand to the overall discount percentage, highlighting how individual brands impact the total discount distribution.

The area chart comparing Average Sales Price and Actual Price visually highlights the price difference, which shows the overall pricing trend and the extent of discounts across the dataset.

The Ribbon chart shows how the average Ratings and Actual Price of different brands or categories change relative to each other, highlighting their rank and trends over time or categories.

The Tree Map visualizes the proportion of total sales contributed by each brand, highlighting the dominance or share of individual brands in overall sales.

The line chart specifies the average Stars ratings for each brand, highlighting how customer satisfaction varies across different mobile brands.

The column chart specifies the total number of reviews received for each brand, providing insight into the popularity or customer engagement for each brand's products.

The Word Cloud chart highlights the most frequently mentioned words in the top 10 reviews, categorized by their association with different brands, offering insights into key features or sentiments related to each brand.

The stacked column chart shows the distribution of average RAM (in GB) across different brands, highlighting the variations in RAM configurations for each brand. The scatter plot shows the relationship between RAM and ROM, with the size or color of each point representing the Ratings of the mobile models.

The Stacked Area chart visualizes the distribution of display sizes across different brands, showing the count of models with varying display sizes for each brand.

The donut chart visualizes the total sum of ROM for each unique ROM configuration, showing the distribution of storage capacities across the dataset.

